TITAN DUPLEX*

True sound innovation for total purity of tone. For the first time, fine adjustments of grand piano strings can now be carried out at the duplex bridge in the treble section, by means of sliding supporting bents made from titanium, which can be operated individually. This enables direct tuning of each string, to precise values and thus offers a tone of absolute purity. A great benefit of using titanium can be seen by its outstanding ability to conduct sound and to add impedance, which provides additional sound potential at further crucial points during sound transfer. This consequently makes this concert grand 275 by SAUTER, completely unique.
